Description of the good example

The Handbook is designed to help organisations that will provide an effective and sustainable way of doing advocacy. It suggests that such organisations are likely to be NGOs, and it provides ideas for setting up NGOs with strong foundations, on how to manage them well, and make them effective in the fight against injustice and abuse.

Target - Who can best use this example or document?

Non-governmental bodies, Based Civil Society Organisations, Local and National governments, grassroots sport organisations, non-profit organisations.

Highlights and outcomes

Why could it be useful for your organisation and advocacy?

The handbook brings together sustainable activation, sustainable partnership and education (training). It has national approach and it is transferable to other NGOs, supporting advocacy on all levels.

Learning points - What can we learn from it?

How to run advocacy NGO in your own country, and what are the problems of running it, so that it is effective. Furthermore, it gives tips for leadership and how to manage a team.
